The background of the poster is a painting of a coastal landscape. In the upper half, a pale, hazy sky contains a small, bright sun and several wispy white clouds. Below the sky, a dark, forested hillside descends towards a body of water. The water is rendered in shades of green and blue, with white foam from waves breaking on a sandy beach. The overall style is impressionistic and textured.

Galerie Jocelyn Wolff is thrilled to announce its participation in arteba 2024 with a curated selection of works by renowned artists Diego Bianchi, Santiago de Paoli, Irene Kopelman, and Miriam Cahn.

Known for his immersive installations and sculptures that explore the intersections of urban environments and human experiences, Diego Bianchi's (Buenos Aires, 1969) works challenge viewers to engage with space and materiality in innovative ways. His pieces often incorporate found objects, transforming them into powerful statements on contemporary life.

With a career spanning several decades, Miriam Cahn's (Basel, 1949) art is noted for its intense emotional resonance and exploration of themes such as gender, identity, and the human body. Her expressive and often raw works on paper and canvas provoke thought and dialogue about the human condition.

An artist deeply influenced by scientific exploration and natural phenomena, Irene Kopelman's (Córdoba, 1974) work often involves detailed studies and representations of the natural world. Her drawings and paintings capture the intricate beauty of nature, reflecting her commitment to observation and detail.

A distinguished painter, Santiago de Paoli's (Buenos Aires, 1978) work delves into the depths of human emotion and abstract expression. His paintings are characterized by their bold use of color and form, evoking a visceral response and inviting viewers to explore the subtleties of perception and emotion.

Galerie Jocelyn Wolff is proud to bring these exceptional artists to arteba, showcasing a diverse range of contemporary art that reflects the gallery's commitment to innovative and thought-provoking works.
